

Parker Fox: Great to be a Gopher, at last

This article originally was printed in White Bear Press.

By Bruce Strand

For Parker Fox, it had been 965 days between college basketball games when he suited up for the Gophers last Nov. 6, after two years of rehabbing from separate knee injuries.

Making his debut as a Big Ten cager at age 24, the former Mahtomedi and Northern State star said it was worth the long wait and all he endured to get there.

“I grew up watching the Big Ten, so I was familiar with all the teams, coaches, and arenas,” said Fox. “Having the opportunity to play, in my opinion, in the best conference in the country, was super special.

“It was a blast to travel and experience all the different arenas and opposing fan bases, but nothing compared to playing in the ‘barn’ in front of our amazing fans. It was more than I could have even hoped for.”

Mahtomedi's Parker Fox slammed home a reverse dunk for the Gophers

In that opener at Williams Arena against Bethune-Cookman, Fox relished returning to action and contributed seven points, including one thunderous two-hand dunk, in a 80-60 win.

After missing two entire seasons, the 6-foot-8, 220-pound forward was able to play in all 34 games, one of just two Gophers to do so, and helped them post a 19-15 record, a big jump from the previous season. Fox credited the trainers and strength/conditioning staff for making sure he was ready. “I put in a lot of time and focus on my rehab,” he said, “knowing that the basketball season is long and that I want to be available in March.”

A first-team Division II All-America his last season at Northern State, Fox was not a starter for the Gophers, but averaged 14 minutes, 5.1 points, and 2.9 rebounds per game, shooting a team-leading 68 percent on field goals, 71-for-104, mostly on dunks and close-range shots. He blocked 27 shots and made 18 steals.

One weakness for Fox was free throws, 30-for-63.

His playing time and production steadily increased and several of his best games came in Big Ten play.

“I was just ecstatic that I had the ability to feel more and more healthy as the season went on,” Fox said, “and I feel like that showed toward the end of the season.”

He logged 11 points and four blocks in an 83-74 win at Penn State; eight points, four rebounds, an assist and steal in a 59-56 win over Michigan State at home; ten points in a 90-85 loss at Iowa; nine points and four rebounds in an 88-79 win over Ohio State at home; eight points and nine rebounds in a 73-55 loss at Nebraska; and, in his lone start, 11 points, six rebounds and four blocks in a 75-70 home win over Penn State.

His top scoring game was 16 points in a 101-65 win at home over IUPUI in December. He had 10 points, two steals and two blocks in a 73-72 win over Butler in the NIT at Indianapolis in March.

The Gophers, coached by Ben Johnson, were 19-15 overall and 9-11 in the Big Ten, after going 9-22 and 2-17 the year before. They lost six of their last eight but did pick up the one NIT win before Indiana State ended their season.

“I think we proved a lot of people wrong this year,” Fox said. “We were able to give some of the best teams in the country a really good fight. The coaching staff did a great job preparing us.”

Despite the upbeat season, several Gophers have entered the transfer portal. Fox, who has one year left, was asked if that was discouraging.

“No, it is just the new landscape of college basketball,” he said. “It’s hard to understand, but everyone has to make the best decision for themselves and their families. I loved all my teammates and I wish them nothing but the best.”

Fox was named to the Academic All-Big Ten team. He is taking strategic management classes as a graduate student after earning his masters in sports management in 2023.

Parker Fox enjoyed a homedown day at a game with his parents and brother Brody, who plays for Wisconsin-Stout.

At Mahtomedi, Fox averaged 23.3 points as a senior in 2016-17, leading the Zephyrs to a 22-3 season, falling one win short of state. He tallied 1,217 career points in just two seasons, missing one season with an injury.

Fox was not regarded as Big Ten material then, but flourished in three seasons at Northern State (Aberdeen, SD), where he grew bigger and stronger and was known for spectacular, highlight-reel dunks. With two years eligibility left (one Covid-shortened season was not counted against eligibility), he decided to give D-I a try and fielded multiple offers. He wound up being new coach Johnson’s first signee.

Then came the two injuries, the first during a pickup game at Northern in the spring of 2021, the next in an early practice with the Gophers in 2022, that resulted in two years of rehabbing.

“There’s a lot of isolation and some crazy, dark days, and times where you’ve got a lot of self-reflection,” Fox said in an interview last November with si.com. “You learn a lot about your body and you learn all the muscles that you need to get stronger ... there’s so many moves in basketball that you need to have down before you want to get back out there The mental (part) is really the beast.”

Fox announced shortly after the season that he will return for one more season. After all he went through to be a Gopher, he’s not leaving Williams Arena until he has played as long as he can.

Pacesetter Summer #45 Coming Soon... as Pacesetter Seeks a New Director

Top 100 Expo, Great State games at the Target Center, a SUPER Sweet 16...and about 60 camps!

By Jeff McCarron

I love what I do...providing camps and tournaments and a state basketball newspaper...but I am also looking for a successor, so I can have summers free for the first time since 1965. Anyone ready to spend ALL of your remaining working hours...for the rest of your life...on basketball? Even working from your home if you choose? I know you are out there.

That's how my life changed in 1980...though I wasn't able to break free from the 8:00 to 4:00 school hours until 1984. I returned again to teaching 2000-2005 for an international job at the American School of Warsaw in Poland. But that was it. No more school bells. The pay has been similar and often better...but without a pension. The total hours are similar – just at different times of the day and in different months.

I wrote two earlier columns about the beginning of Pacesetter. If someone is ready to step into my shoes, Summer #45 could be the last for me.

To be honest, I'm not sure anyone else can do it or will do it. You have to be a bit crazy and highly motivated year after year. I'm sure there are some people like that in Minnesota – but where? Who? What are you doing right now?

No one really knows what has been involved in years 1-45 – my wife and kids had an idea and saw much of it up close and personal, but there has been so much done in the wee hours of the night when no one is watching – my favorite time. It is still early tonight – 12:19 a.m. on a Sunday night/Monday morning. Since I got up at the crack of noon today, I am only on hour 13.

I feel a bit like Santa Claus – staying up all night, making presents and planning how to deliver them. Here's a taste of what's on the menu for Pacesetter Summer #45:

If you were me, you would see a Monday TO DO LIST that includes finding coaches for all basketball camps with director vacancies. There are still a few. Pay is $40/hour for 4-day camps, $45/hour for 3-day camps, $50/hour for 2-day camps, and $55/hour for one-day camps, plus a travel package. The 1-day and 2-day camps are "Tour of Champions", so you need a strong resume' to direct them.

But just loving kids and coaching basketball and having a good reputation can win you a spot directing the 3-4 day camps. If interested, text me at 320-290-3497. Weeks available at the moment are June 24-26, and July 8-11, and there could be others. The locations will be revealed when you inquire.

I'll also be trying to fill out our varsity Sweet 16 – set for August 3-4 this summer. The boys' field is full, but we still need three "courageous" girls' teams to dive into games against some of the best in the state. Don't worry, If you get beat, you would play a team next that had exactly the same experience as you did – so you keep playing teams like that all weekend, and the games get closer and closer as you "meet your match". Who wants one of the last 3 spots? Two Class AAA and one Class AA would be ideal. Let me know.

I also need to email about 60-some teams on our "Great Five-State" list of youth teams being invited to play July 5-6-7 in Minneapolis – with one game on the main Target Center floor – which is becoming more famous each week the T-Wolves advance in the NBA Playoffs. Wow, what a game tonight! Down 20 points in the second half, 59-39, I believe, I hadn't given up on them and said, "Get it to within 5 at the end of the third, and you have a shot." They rattled off 8 points quickly and then just refused to lose as more Denver shots clanged off the rim and some of our unexpected shots found the net. We went on a 29-8 run to go ahead by one. It was like it was meant to be. You could see how both teams were tired – two 7-game series in a row at the end of a 6-month season is tough. But we finally kicked it into gear when needed and started blocking and stealing and running like the Wolves of Games 1-2 and ran away with it.

OK, back to work, pal. You can check some of the replays and recaps later on You Tube in that 3-4 am time you like for "My Time". See, you learn to talk to yourself too.

NOTE: There will be some Wild Card openings for youth teams in grades 4-9 to fill out the 8-team Great State brackets. Several invited teams have family "4th of July" conflicts, so I will be looking for teams that want to play: 3-4 games in one day on July 5 (5G, 6B, 8G, 9B) or July 6 (9G) or July 7 (4B, 4G, 8B) and attend a Lynx game either July 4th at 7:00 p.m. or July 6th at 7:00 p.m. Team entry fee: $230 All players, coaches and fans must buy a Lynx ticket for $25-$30, which includes the Pacesetter games. Teams from Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, North Dakota, and South Dakota will be playing.

Email me if you are interested in playing, and I'll put you on the Wild Card list.

All players must either live or attend school in the same city – unless from a small school – 2-3 small schools may combine if the total enrollment for their high schools in grades 9-12 is 400 or fewer.

My nephew Will Hoiseth will be the announcer July 5, and Steve Lingenfelter from Bloomington Jefferson fame (and U of M and NBA) will announce July 7.

I'll be sitting on the team side watching games, preparing awards, taking photos, and watching people marvel at the Target Center from almost court level seats as they watch their own kids play on the court. That's a VERY FUN part of what I do – which could be you next year. It just takes a lot of work to make it all happen – none of it difficult – just a lot of little details. For so much of it, I rely on my rock star office manager, Tracey Haines, who has been crazy enough to work for me since 1991.

I'll also be encouraging Minnesota Watch List high school players for the 2024-25 season to register soon for the Top 100 Expo Showcase. The Expo lists are growing with players registering daily. We invited just over 300 players from each gender, and the maximum accepted set at 80 players for 8 teams. There will be 200 boys and 200 girls honored as the Top 50 in their class for next season when our pre-season issue of MN BB News is published in late November 2024.

BASKETBALL CAMPS

I have scheduled myself to do 8 camps – almost one every week - as far away as Buffalo, SD. Check that one on Google Maps. We ran a camp there last year for over 100 players, and they made it to the state tournament. Cool. But the number of crazy people willing to drive that far is thinning. I'll do it. Western SD is wonderful – especially in June. I love it.

I'm not going to mention all of the camps, since unannounced directors can change – but two are in WI and 1-2 could be in ND and 2-3 are in northern MN. I still love the road and the little cafes and gyms...but especially the KIDS...and this game...even though my Mikan shot is no longer worthy of demonstration. Pick one of the best kids to show the others! There is still a way. But when kids ask me if I can dunk it, it is hard to control the laughter – my own! What characters. Check out the smiles in the photo above-precious.

So even though I honestly love it, I think the time is right for someone else to do what I do – someone who can still shoot a Mikan shot...and maybe even dunk! I sincerely hope these programs and Minnesota Basketball News can continue for many years. I would be happy to “consult” as much as needed with a new owner/director.

If I find someone, Summer #45 will be my last...or perhaps #46.... If I don't, I may go for Pacesetter #50...and start working on that Mikan shot!

Text me at 320-290-3497 or email me at jmac8144@yahoo.com if you have any questions, or if I can help you in any way.

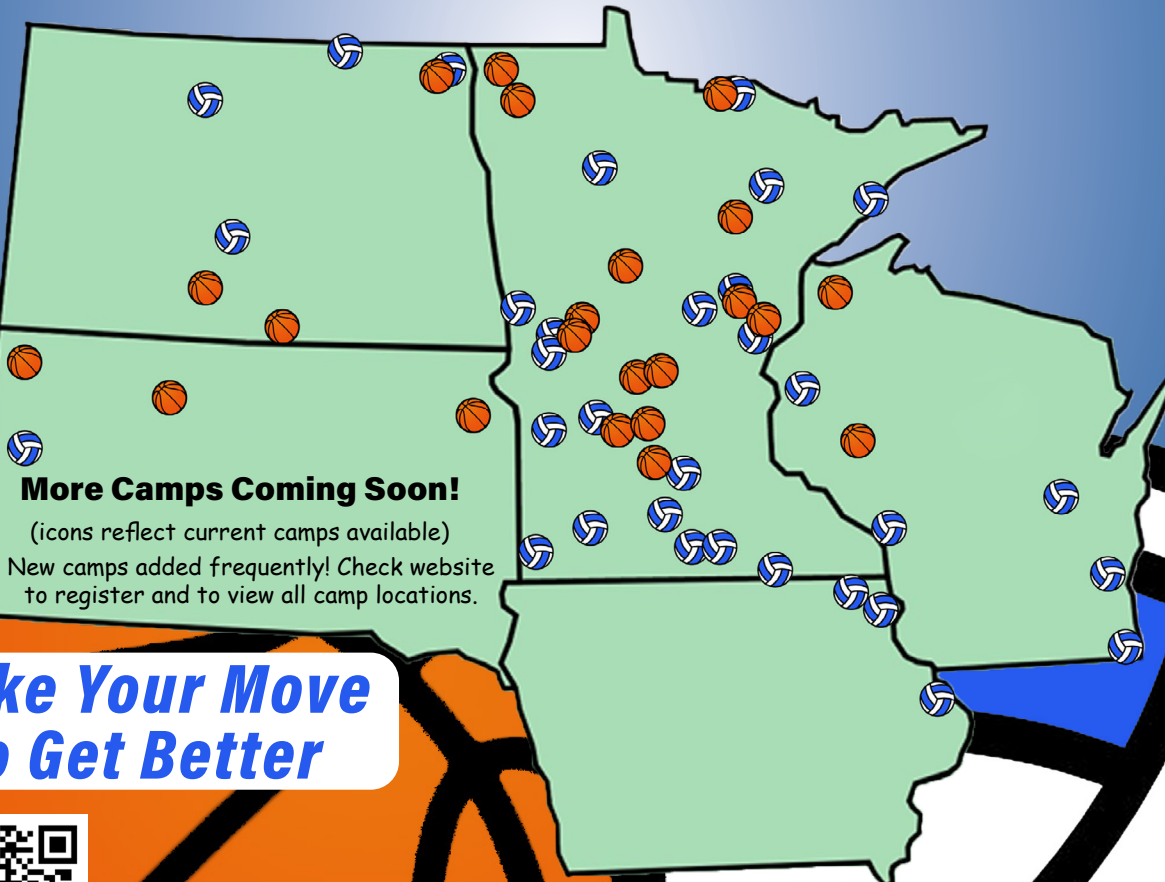

Have a great summer! I know I will. I hope to see you soon along the trail.

Pacesetter's 34th 'Sweet 16' expected to be one of best ever

By Jeff McCarron, Pacesetter director

Five of the Minnesota state high school champions in March will be playing in the 34th Annual Pacesetter "Sweet 16" Basketball Championships, set for the College of St. Benedict in St. Joseph on Saturday and Sunday, August 3-4.

The boys' field will feature state champions in Class A (Cherry), Class AA (Breck), and Class AAA (Totino-Grace), while the girls Class AAAA champion, Minnetonka, and Class AA champion, Providence Academy, will highlight the girls' field.

Teams will all play in one-class in the Sweet 16 with one team from each class placed into each 4-team grouping within the bracket. All teams will play two games on Saturday and two games on Sunday.

In the 33 years of the Sweet 16, it has been rare for a smaller class team to win it all. The Litchfield and Braham boys won it. The Providence Academy girls came close last summer against eventual Class AAAA Minnetonka. This year, with both Cherry and Breck returning very strong teams for the boys and Providence returning a very strong girls' team, the smaller schools have one of their best chances for a "Cinderella Story" in August.

The Class AAA boys will be especially strong with all four teams having played in the state tournament in March: champion Totino-Grace, runner-up Mankato East, Orono and Alexandria.

All teams are competing as independent summer teams. High school coaches are not allowed to coach them during this time frame but they may attend and watch from a different perspective – in the spectator section. The first weekend in August is selected since most players are available to play with their high school teammates.

Any team interested in filling one of the 3 OPEN spots for the girls' Sweet Sixteen should write Jeff at jmac8144@yahoo.com to check availability.

All games will be played at Clemens Fieldhouse (Haehn Campus Center) and are open to the public as an admission event. Trainers and concessions are provided by the host school, St. Ben's.

Most of Cherry's state champ lineup returns.

Pacesetter ‘Great Five-State’ gala for grades 4-9 at Target Center set

Pacesetter Great Five-State Championships have been set for eight grade/gender groups on Friday-Sunday, July 5-6-7. Teams in grades 4-9 from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, and South Dakota will duel for the over-all 5-state titles with a minimum of one game held on the main Target Center floor.

These groups have been scheduled to play on the following dates:

Friday, July 5

16 Pacesetter games at Target Center
5G • 6B • 8G • 9B

Saturday, July 6

4 Pacesetter games at Target Center before the Lynx game at 7 p.m.
9G

Sunday, July 7

12 Pacesetter games at Target Center
4B • 4G • 8B

All youth teams in “Great State” will play 3-4 games on one day only. Teams will attend the Lynx game on Thursday, July 4, at 7 p.m., vs. the Connecticut Sun, or Saturday, July 6, at 7 p.m. vs. the Washington Mystics.

Alexandria and Detroit Lakes duelled in 2023.

Brookings celebrated a close win in 2023.

The Pacesetter “Great State” tournament began in 2010 as the Great Four-State championship and added Wisconsin in 2018.

All Minnesota teams qualified in the Pacesetter 8-region playoff system, which culminated in the Minnesota Youth Basketball State championships in St. Cloud on April 6-7. The North Dakota teams qualified through the Jr. Grand Am in Grand Forks April 6-7. South Dakota teams qualified through the Willie Mac state championships in Brookings April 6-7. Wisconsin teams qualified through the Badgerland state tournaments and by special invitations. Iowa teams qualified through invitations to high school coaches.

There are still a few “Great State” openings in the brackets due to family conflicts for some qualifying teams. Some Wild Card teams will be accepted to fill spots. Any teams in grades 4-9 interested in a Wild Card spot should write Pacesetter director Jeff McCarron at jmac8144@yahoo.com to check availability.

Pacesetter/MBBN College Prep Camp & Top 100 Expo set for July 1-2

By Jeff McCarron, Pacesetter director

The Pacesetter/Minnesota Basketball News College Prep Camp and Top 100 Expo Showcase will be held again at The College of St. Ben's in St. Joseph, MN, on Monday, July 1 (camp) and Tuesday, July 2 (Expo).

The top high school players in Minnesota for the 2024-2025 season, as projected by the Minnesota Basketball News staff along with assistance from high school head coaches, have been identified and placed on a Watch List. All Watch List players are being invited to show their talent to college coaches and the MBBN staff at the Top 100 Expo Showcase.

Girls action from the 2023 Expo.

Boys action from the 2023 Expo.

Each November, MBBN publishes the Top 100 players, 50 boys and 50 girls, in each class in the pre-season issue, which also names the Top 20 teams in each class. Two hundred boys and 200 girls will be recognized. Over 300 boys and 300 girls with "college potential" have been named to the Watch List and provided invitations to the Expo for further exposure and networking.

A limit of 80 boys and 80 girls has been set for each 8-team bracket. The teams will then play 3 games each on four courts for the overall Expo championships. Ten boys and 10 girls will be named to the All-Star team along with one boy and one girl named as Most Valuable Player.

Paul McDonald and the MBBN staff of coaches, who are either current or past college coaches or former college players, will provide a 7-hour College Prep Camp on Monday, July 1, from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Players will be taught the most important skills to succeed in college on and off the court. The program will not be overly strenuous as players prepare for the three games on Tuesday. Coach McDonald has been the director of the Top 100 Expo and College Prep camp for most of the past 20 years. He coached at Vermilion Community College for 30 years and played at both the University of Nebraska and South Dakota State after winning two high school state championships at Chisholm in 1973 and 1975.

The coaches will also talk to the Expo players on Tuesday in a pre-Expo talk. All parents are encouraged to attend the talk and watch both the camp and Expo. Ample seating will be provided.

College coaches planning to attend the Expo or camp are asked to sign up in advance at this link: <https://pacesettersports.redpodium.com/college-coach-pre-registration-top-100-2024>, so that Player Profiles of every player can be prepared in advance for each coach in attendance. Coaches are also encouraged to attend if they have not signed up in advance. It is not mandatory, but it is helpful for planning. There is no cost to attend.

With over 40 days before July 1, over 50 boys and over 40 girls have already registered for the Expo and over 50 total for the camp, so invited players are encouraged to register soon to lock in a spot. Any players on the list who have not gotten their invitation should email Publisher Jeff McCarron at jmac8144@yahoo.com.

The 2024-2025 Top Players Watch List is posted below. Head coaches may still recommend players not on the list by writing Jeff at jmac8144@yahoo.com. The current Expo List is also posted below.
